FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF UTAH IRON AND COAL RESOURCES SEEMS IMPENDING.

For a long time there have been rumors and indefinite statements about great plans on foot to develop to a greater extent Utah's wonderful resources in coal and iron. During the past year there have been more of these indications of activity than ever before. And now comes Bradstreet's with a summary of what may be expected in the several states. A strong hint that some interesting announcements may be expected soon is contained in the following article about the situation in Utah.

There were several disturbing features during the year, such as strikes and shutdowns in the copper mines. As the year closed, however, most of these conditions were either adjusted or in a fair way to be settled in a satisfactory manner. Several large transactions affecting the coal and iron industries of the state are apparently moving to a satisfactory conclusion. Prospects of the state taking its place among the largest producers of both of these commodities are good. Demand for houses of all kinds continues to increase rapidly. With the opening of spring it is expected that there will be a strong demand for all classes of labor to meet requirements of the building trades and for the continuance of large municipal contracts under way. Road building is expected to continue at an increased pace. A general feeling of optimism prevails, with jobbers branching out for new business in new territory.

GOOD ROADS NEWS IS ALWAYS GOOD NEWS.

Persons who study the newspapers cannot fail to be impressed by the amount of news that is being published about new roads that have just been built, new roads about to be built, and new roads which are planned for the near future. In connection with these announcements (the sums mentioned run into hundreds of thousands and sometimes into millions.

All of this news is the most welcome sort of news. Good roads benefit everybody. Even if they only benefited the automobile owner they would be worth while for here in Utah nearly everybody is becoming an automobile owner.

But benefits of good roads are not limited to the automobile owner or the farmer, either. For with good roads, the farmer's garden and poultry yard are placed miles closer to the consumer and this should serve to keep prices in check.

Good roads in the country encourage the building up of suburban communities with the resultant decrease in city congestion and beneficial results in health conditions. Furthermore good roads in the rural districts assist those who are obtaining better rural schools. For with good roads rural schools can be built to rival big city schools and students may be transported conveniently in school busses over good roads from their homes to the school.

Millions of dollars will be spent in Utah this year for roads. The opening of spring will see a great program of highway construction launched. Cities, counties, states and the nation are contributing generous sums toward highway building and all news about such projects will be read with welcome interest.

OUR DEBT TO THE ARMY AND RED CROSS NURSES

In several states yesterday was set aside in the churches as a day to pay tribute to the work of the nurse in the war. Because of the short time elapsing between the announcement and the date set and also because of the health situation little was done in Ogden.

But that does not mean that Ogden will not do anything, for even before the announcement of Nurses' day reached Ogden preparations were under way for a testimonial, and these arrangements will be carried out soon.

No community, however, can do more than pay a small part of the debt owing to the nurses. Army and Red Cross nurses are pictured in a romantic light, wearing beautiful uniforms and lightly stroking the brow of a wounded and dying soldier. These pictures really do the nurse an injustice, for her service in the war was anything but romantic. It was terribly hard work, work that required years of training, strong minds, kindness and sound constitutions. The wonder is that the women who were engaged in war nursing withstood the demands made upon them.

A surprisingly large number of seriously wounded American boys recovered following their removal to hospitals. The surgeons of the army deserve credit, but a great amount of thanks for these good results is due the army nurse.

JUST A SUGGESTION.

If it is true that this is a government "of the people, by the people, for the people" why would it not be a good idea always to refer to it as the people of the United States instead of the government of the United States?

Then when something happens which displeases us we shall not say "the government never does anything about it" but instead will say "the people never do anything about it."

The use of the term "people" places the fault where the fault lies in great part, for there is an assertion that the people usually get the kind of government they deserve.

The term "government" is quite impersonal. Its mention gives a picture of the capitol far away at Washington with senators and representatives debating, debating, debating. But when the term "people" is employed the fact is brought home that each citizen has a duty to perform and that inefficiency of "government" quite often means inattention to public duties on the part of the "people."

SWITCH OFF!

Put aside the Salts, Oil, Calomel, or Pills and take "Cascarets."

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure, and fresh with Cascarets, or merely whipping them into action every few days with Salts, Cathartics, Pills, Oil, or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash day. Let Cascarets gently cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the colon and bowels all the constipated waste matter and poisons so you can straighten up.

Cascarets tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken, or cause any inconvenience, and cost so little, too.—Advertisement.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c and 25c.—Advertisement.

EDUCATIONAL DRIVE IN UTAH OUTLINED BY COMMITTEE

A statement, preceding the opening of the Utah Educational Campaign, and outlining the issues of the drive as prepared by Nephi L. Morris and the executive committee, is being presented to directors of organizations in Ogden and Weber county.

The statement of the executive committee follows in part:

"Business and professional men and civic and religious organizations of the state of Utah are co-operating with the state board of education and the school superintendents of Utah in a statewide educational campaign for improving public school education and for a more practical preparation for living in Utah.

The objectives of this campaign are to create public sentiment which will arouse boards of education to make provision for putting in force in the counties of the state the recently enacted laws for improving public school education and to inform the people of the needs of their school system. One of the most important objectives which will be presented in the educational campaign, February 6 to 15, is supervision of out-of-school activities over the entire twelve months.

Tradition has said that education consists in certain hours of instruction in classrooms in the subjects commonly recognized as constituting public school education. This tradition, however, has been outgrown by reason of modern conditions of living. Education should reinforce the home and the church in directing all rightful activities of youth up to age 18, whether in school or out of school.

There is one recognized public organization entrusted by the state with the education of youth. This is the city or district board of education. By reason of the law recently enacted providing for education supervision over the entire twelve months, the state of Utah, through its governor and state legislature, has practically declared that of Utah is to be a continuous process from January 1, to December 31, carrying its method and the needs of the child, the sessions and the home and community environments. Boards of education should engage sufficient principals and teachers for the entire twelve months to supervise children from 12 to 18 years of age.

"Can real progress be made by taking nine steps forward and three backward each year? To direct the activities of youth for nine months and then to turn them loose without any supervision to assist parents in directing their children during the three summer months which constitute the per of greatest activities of children, is poor business and poorer education. It must cease. It will cease as soon as the people of Utah are acquainted with the provisions of the new law.

Plan for Work Outlined.

"The suggested plan for civic and patriotic service education extending over twelve months is as follows:

"All pupils under 18 will register at the beginning of the school year. Pupils that must be excused to enter employment will be enrolled in a part-time school. This registration will be closely checked with the annual school census provided by law.

"All pupils will be encouraged to enroll in at least one class that functions over twelve months, and for which school credits will not be given before the end of the twelve months, for example: Smith-Hughes courses in agriculture and home economics, also courses in trades and industries and farm mechanics, courses in community civics, personal hygiene, physical education and music. (It is recognized that these classes will be in part experimental, but inasmuch as they are based on sound reasons they should succeed.)

"Pupils not regularly enrolled in such classes, such as part-time pupils, will be placed in group for vocational placements and guidance and the special duty of the twelve months' school worker will be to concern himself with the nature, kind and extent of the work in which the pupil is engaged, and the initiative developed and the progress maintained in such work.

The flashing of a meteor across the heavens was witnessed by a favored few who were out and around at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The light was compared to the mercury vapor arcs used in photography.
